28. Irish Coffee Cream Ale Cream Ale 5.1% ABV 28 IBU Shannon Brewing Company Keller, TX Shannon Irish Coffee Cream Ale is our modern spin on an ancient Irish recipe. Shannon Irish Coffee Cream Ale is brewed to have a subtle malt start and the rich character associated with the finest Irish pale ales. It is fermented with ale yeast starting at a relatively low temperature. The temperature is allowed to climb over several days, causing the yeast to accentuate the malt character with some nuttiness and baked fruit notes. This combination of fermentation temperatures gives Shannon Irish Cream Ale a complex malt start with wonderful fruit aromas reminiscent of apricot and pears. We age this beer on whole coffee beans from our friends at White Rock Coffee and whole vanilla beans to give this beer a wonderful vanilla coffee aroma and flavor. 34. Turn Out the Lights Stout - Irish Dry 6% ABV 30 IBU Peticolas Brewing Company Dallas, TX Turn Out the Lights, an Irish Dry Stout, was brewed to commemorate our first 5 years. Although known for brewing high alcohol beers, we're mixing it up this year with a nice 6% stout. A jet black appearance and thick head define this beer's rich character and the use of coffee-like roasted barley heavily influences the aroma. While the flavor is initially accentuated by light caramel, it finishes with a distinctive dry-roast bitterness. Pleasant, but gentle and subtle fruit esters are overshadowed by the malt, bittering hop, and roasted barley character. You'll actually find the body of Turn Out the Lights fairly light. Our penchant for names with multiple meanings is on display again with Turn Out the Lights - its deep black color naturally invokes 'lights out' imagery, we'll literally turn out the lights on 2016 with the New Year's Eve release of this beer, and it references the musical shenanigans heard in the brewery and highlighted during our crew's 2015 holiday party.
