BLENDS 6

Arabian Mocha Java Coffee

$12.65

often called "the perfect blend". you'll note a striking balance of body and acidity. it consists simply of 1/3 arabian mocha and 2/3 java estate, yet you can't help but enjoy its complexities. many feel it is better than either of those two coffees on their own. other mocha java blends may combine inferior mocha beans with several other coffees. they simply can't give you the fabulous flavor this blend does.

Arabian Mocha Coffee

$13.20

enjoy one of the most rare coffees in the world. its fragrance is sweet, its body so full it is almost heavy, and its flavor is deliciously wine-like. grown in the hills of north yemen in southwestern saudi arabia, the heritage of these beans involves many centuries of select plantings. arab traders originally brought wild coffee trees from ethiopia where they were indigenous. the traders were the first to cultivate the plant. the name "mocha" is derived from the fact that it was first exported from the port of mocha.
